COMMON MISTAKING Million Doll

(Group Guidelines)

This Board is where the MillionDollBoard DM editor will occasionally explain the terminology that appears in millionDoll. There are extremely subjective definitions, as at times they will differ from the real definition. We recommend not taking them too seriously.

[1:1] ♦ Million Doll Wota Terminology ♦

1: Selfies

One of the basic techniques for idols in this generation.

Some prime examples:

- "Baiting" selfies to attract fans with erotic content such as swimsuits or bathing
- "Makeup-free" selfies after getting out of the bath

There are also many selfie accidents, such as:

- "Space-time distortion" selfies where they used photo editing software to make their legs thinner, but as a result the background scenery got distorted
- "Photobombed" selfies that were taken in a dressing room and accidentally included another member changing their clothes in the background

As for photo editing, you would expect it to be frowned upon, but there are surprisingly many who appreciate the effort put in.

2: An Idol's Past

What did idols do before they became idols?

Those who worked in the public entertainment industry (e.g. idols, child actors, models) from a young age should have been properly managed, so there's no need to worry.

As for those who were ordinary people, wotas must be prepared to handle any shocking, heartwrenching secrets about their past. For example, despite one using her purity as an appeal, she could have been a gyaru until her first audition. Or, someone might discover an old photo she took with a guy, via social networking profiles of her friends from back then.

Wotas who can still love them after those revelations could be considered a step above the rest...

3: Nostalgia Goggles

Those who reject new things, claiming that they were better the way they were before, are said to be wearing nostalgia goggles.

It's not specifically Idol slang, but internet slang in general. They tend to say things like "it was great up until ●●; everything after then was shit".

The context for calling these people out is when they take an attitude of rejecting something new because of aspects that are still rough, without considering the good points.

Personally, I'm the type that enjoys an idol's journey to the top, so when I feel like I'm going to put on the nostalgia goggles then I think it's time to look for the next group to support.
